Dear Mr. Jacobsen:

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), through its contractor, Herrera Environmental Consultants, has completed a report summarizing the findings of a visit conducted at the Fort Casey Military Reservation Formerly Used Defense Site (FUDS) in September, 2005. A copy of the report, called a Preliminary Assessment/Site Inspection, is enclosed.

Based on a review of this report, EPA has determined that no further action is warranted at the Fort Casey Military Reservation site. A no further action designation means that no additional steps under the Federal Superfund Program will be taken at the site unless new information warranting further Superfund consideration is discovered. EPA's no further action designation does not relieve your facility from complying with appropriate Washington state regulations.

In accordance with EPA's decision regarding the tracking of no further action sites, the above named site will be removed from the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Information System (CERCLIS) data base and placed in a separate archival data base as a historical record. Archived sites may be returned to the CERCLIS site inventory if new information necessitating further Superfund consideration is discovered.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me at (206)553-2782.

Sincerely,

Ken Marcy
Site Assessment Manager
